Statement on altering terrestrial television network and programme licenses and on drafting the call for applications for network licenses for multiplexes B,C and D.

Please find the statements from MTV Networks Europe and Nickelodeon International (jointly "Viacom" hereinafter)

- 1) Extending the duration of network licences that are currently valid and will expire on 9 January 2017;

Viacom is of the opinion that the extension to network licenses is necessary to ensure the continuity of DTT broadcasting. However the extension should be as short as possible so the licenses should not be extended beyond 14th May 2017.

- 2) Extending the duration of programme licences that are currently valid and will expire on 9 January 2017;

Viacom is of the opinion that the extension to network licenses is necessary to ensure the continuity of DTT broadcasting. However the extension should be as short as possible so the licenses should not be extended beyond 14th May 2017.

- 3) Altering the entry into force date of network licences granted to Digita, DNA and Anvia on 12 November 2015

Viacom is of the opinion that the entry into force date of network licenses granted to Digita, DNA and Anvia on 12 November 2015 should be altered. However the entry into force date of network licenses should not be later than 15th May 2017.

- 4) Drafting the call for applications for network licences for multiplexes B, C and D.

Viacom is of the opinion that the entry into force date of the network licences for multiplexes B, C and D should not be later than 15th May 2017.
